

Eucalypt identification workshop

at Quorrobolong, Cessnock

HRLN individual members are free
Non-members $10

Book here

Build identification skills for conserving our bushland! And learn about private biodiversity conservation.

This workshop, presented by Paul Gadsby, TAFE NSW, will provide you with practical methods to identify the indigenous trees in your area. The day will include

- Background information about Eucalypts and ecology
- Hands on work with botanical samples
- Walk and id to practice methods in the bushland setting
- Private conservation options

WHEN: Saturday 20th April 2022 9am - 2pm

WHERE: Quorrobolong.
Address provided upon registration

RSVP: <https://forms.gle/uqCuPahU4gpDCxcM6> or contact Stacy 0429 444 305

This event is possible thanks to the shared work of the NSW Biodiversity Conservation Trust and Landcare NSW under the Private Land Conservation Matters project

NSW Biodiversity Conservation Trust